RESIDENT LICENSEES

CONTINUING EDUCATION

1. Licensees must complete eight (8) classroom hours per year of continuing education (CE) in order to renew his/her license on active status.
  - Four (4) of the required CE credit hours must be obtained by completing the Real Estate Update Course prescribed by the Commission. The subject matter of this course will be changed by the Commission from year to year.
  - The remaining four (4) CE credit hours may be obtained by taking an elective course approved by the Commission. Elective courses may address a wide variety of real estate topics.
  - Beginning July 1, 2006, licensees designated as brokers-in-charge must complete a four classroom hour Broker-in-Charge Annual Review Course each full license period after being designated a broker-in-charge. The Review course will count toward the required continuing education elective requirement for the license period.
2. The maximum amount of CE credit awarded for any single course is four (4) hours.
3. A person who is issued a provisional broker or broker license (either by examination, reciprocity or reinstatement) does NOT have to take continuing education courses during the license period in which the license is issued. However, they must satisfy the CE requirement prior to the second renewal of the license.

PROVISIONAL BROKER POSTLICENSING EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

1. Persons licensed in North Carolina on or after April 1, 2006 as a provisional broker either by examination or reinstatement may satisfy the postlicensing requirement, by completing three 30-hour postlicensing courses within three years after licensure (at least one course each year). If a provisional broker fails to complete at least one course by the end of the first year (or a second course by the end of the second year), his or her license will be placed on “inactive” status until the required education is completed. If a provisional broker fails to complete all three postlicensing courses within three years, the license will be cancelled and the former licensee must satisfy the requirements for license reinstatement.
2. Persons licensed as salespersons between October 1, 2005 and March 31, 2006 must satisfy the postlicensing education requirement described above.
3. Persons licensed as salespersons before October 1, 2005 had until April 1, 2008 to either complete a 24-hour Broker Transition Course or certify certain full time brokerage experience. The April 1, 2008 deadline was a fixed date and there can be no exceptions for any reason. After April 1, the license was placed on “inactive” status and the licensee will have to complete the three 30-hour postlicensing courses in order to remove the “provisional” status and reactivate the license.

Note:

The three 30-hour postlicensing courses do not satisfy any continuing education requirement and are in addition to the eight-hour annual continuing education requirement for active status.

NONRESIDENT LICENSEES

To be considered a nonresident North Carolina real estate broker, a licensee cannot have a North Carolina business address, mailing address or residence address.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR LICENSE ACTIVATION

Inactive nonresident licensees may activate their licenses by satisfying the North Carolina continuing education (CE) requirements and submitting a “Request to Activate Broker or Provisional Broker License” form available from the Commission and on line at www.ncrec.state.nc.us. The options for satisfying the CE requirement are shown below.

Option #1 - Certify Active Status in Another State

A nonresident licensee with an active real estate license in another state may activate his/her inactive North Carolina license by certifying active license status in another state, even if the other state’s continuing education requirement is different from North Carolina’s requirement. Nonresidents who elect this option should not submit any continuing education course completion certificates nor make a special request for continuing education credit. You simply need to complete and submit the attached form [REC 2.08].

The Commission will contact licensing agencies in other states to make random “spot checks” of licensee certifications, and any nonresident licensee found to have falsely certified active status in another state will immediately have his North Carolina license placed on inactive status and will be subject to disciplinary action by the Commission.

Option #2 - Take North Carolina CE Courses

A nonresident licensee may elect to be treated the same as a resident licensee and take CE courses that are approved by the North Carolina Real Estate Commission. Continuing education sponsors and courses are available from the Commission’s website at www.ncrec.state.nc.us. The course sponsors will notify the Commission of all licensees completing such courses. Do not send course completion certificates to the Commission unless requested.

Option #3 - Take CE Courses Approved in Another State

A nonresident licensee for whom Option #1 and #2 are not viable may fully satisfy the CE requirement by completing CE courses which are approved by the real estate licensing agency in the licensee’s resident state or in the state where the course or courses are completed. Under this option, the nonresident licensee must demonstrate completion of sufficient CE in another state to satisfy North Carolina’s requirement for eight (8) hours per year. Credits may be applied retroactively to accomplish this. To obtain credit for such a CE course(s), the licensee must submit a written request for CE credit accompanied by a nonrefundable processing fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) per request, payable to the North Carolina Real Estate Commission. The request for credit must be accompanied by official verification (usually a copy of the course completion certificate) showing the date of course completion and evidence the course was approved for CE credit by the state real estate licensing agency. Note: Continuing education credit will NOT be awarded for real estate pre-licensing courses, even if such courses are recognized for CE credit by the real estate licensing agency in another state.

Option #4 - Obtain Equivalent Credit

Nonresident licensees may formally request the Commission to evaluate and award continuing education course credit for a course not approved by the Commission or by the licensing agency in their resident state or in the state where the course was taken, or for some other real estate education activity. These courses and education activities must be found by the Commission to be equivalent to North Carolina’s continuing education requirement. Each request for equivalent credit must be submitted on a form prescribed by the Commission accompanied by a nonrefundable $30 evaluation fee. Forms and more detailed information on equivalent credit rules and procedures are available from the Commission’s website at www.ncrec.state.nc.us.

PROVISIONAL BROKER POSTLICENSING EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

A nonresident licensed in North Carolina as a provisional broker either by examination or by reciprocity may satisfy the postlicensing education requirement, by either:

1. Completing the postlicensing courses, in North Carolina;
2. Obtaining a broker license in another state; or
3. Completing any combination of broker qualification (prelicensing) courses, postlicensing courses or continuing education courses approved by the real estate licensing agency in another state and totaling the number of hours required in North Carolina. [Salesperson prelicensing education is not acceptable for this purpose. To be eligible for equivalent credit, broker prelicensing courses or salesperson postlicensing courses taken in another state must have been completed within three years prior to the date equivalent credit is requested and continuing education courses must have been completed during the time period the licensee is required to satisfy the applicable North Carolina postlicensing education requirement. Continuing education courses taken in another state to satisfy North Carolina’s postlicensing education requirement must be in addition to continuing education taken to satisfy a licensee’s CE requirement in his/her resident state.]
