

Postlicensing Education Information

Basic Information

- 1) If you had a broker license issued or reinstated on “provisional” status on or after April 1, 2006, you must complete three 30-hour postlicensing courses within three years after licensure.
 - You may take all three courses at one time but you must complete at least one course each year.
 - When you have properly completed the three postlicensing courses, the “provisional” status of your broker license will be terminated.
 - You do not receive continuing education credit for any postlicensing education. (Please refer to the Commission’s continuing education information for any additional CE requirements.)
- 2) If your salesperson license was issued between October 1, 2005 and March 31, 2006 and converted to broker on “provisional” status effective April 1, 2006, you must satisfy the postlicensing education requirement described above prior to April 1, 2009.
- 3) If you were licensed as a salesperson prior to October 1, 2005, you must, prior to April 1, 2008, either complete a 24-hour Broker Transition Course or demonstrate at least four years full-time (or equivalent) brokerage experience within the previous six years.
